

---

Adam Ortiz

---

Inclusion, Access and Success Committee Chair

Adam J. Ortiz is currently an Associate Director of College Counseling at Collegiate School in Richmond, VA. With experience on both sides of the desk, Adam has worked in college admissions at Johns Hopkins University and Washington & Jefferson College, as well as previous secondary school counseling at Sidwell Friends School and UWC Maastricht in the Netherlands, where he advised an international student body from over 100 countries.

His professional service includes co-chairing the Coming Together Pre-Conference and as a member of the Ann Powell Mentorship Program for PCACAC, having also served on International ACAC's DEIB Change Committee, and presenting at conferences including ACCIS, PCACAC, and International ACAC. His career reflects a deep commitment to expanding educational opportunity, fostering belonging across diverse communities, and supporting the growth of students, colleagues, and future leaders committed to broadening participation in higher education.